THE 1920
WOLVERINE

PUBLISHED
BY THE
JUNIOR CLASS
OF THE
MICHIGAN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE
EAST LANSING, MICH.

To Mary Elizabeth Edmonds, Dean of Home Economics, who has devoted her indispensable services to the betterment of this institution, in the promotion of the interests of the women of M. A. C., we, the Class of 1921, dedicate this book.

Foreword

This edition of the WOLVERINE, Volume XVIII, has been constructed by the Class of 1921 to serve as a record of the college year of 1920. It has been our aim to bring forth every feature which will best serve the purpose of such a publication.

For accomplishing this purpose we have added a new section which will be of interest not only to the present student body of M. A. C., but also to the many who have gone out before us—that of Traditions. We have endeavored to bring to mind a few of the traditions and customs of our college, some of which are new, but many of which have come down to us with the growth of our great institution of learning.

It is our sincere hope that this volume will well serve as a pleasant reminder of the many happy days which we have spent here, and instill in our hearts and minds a greater love and appreciation for our Alma Mater.

Paths

The path to M. A. C. runs straight and smooth from preparatory days among the trees of Promise. Each golden leaf upon this path is a token of an Opportunity to come.

And having reached this campus fair, and when accustomed to its paths, one finds that many turn their steps upon the Agricultural Way—the path that leads to the noblest profession of them all—the tilling of God's soil.

And some travelers on this broad Agricultural Way digress upon the paths of Horticulture—a path that leads through orchard, vineyard, and greenhouse.

Still others in their college days travel on the road of Engineering—the profession of Industrialism and Civilization. A profession leading to success and fame, and worthy of the respect of all mankind.

The paths of most female pilgrims on this road to Knowledge turn in at the Home Economics Gate —a gate that leads to the making of better women as citizens, as teachers, and as the Help Mate to Man for which they were created.

Upon this scenic campus of ours dance the goddesses Art, Science, Industry, and Opportunity—fitting leaders for the pilgrims in their long, but not dreary, pilgrimage.

The paths of artists of true beauty —the beauty God made—lead to our campus vistas, our winding creeks, and our stately evergreens.

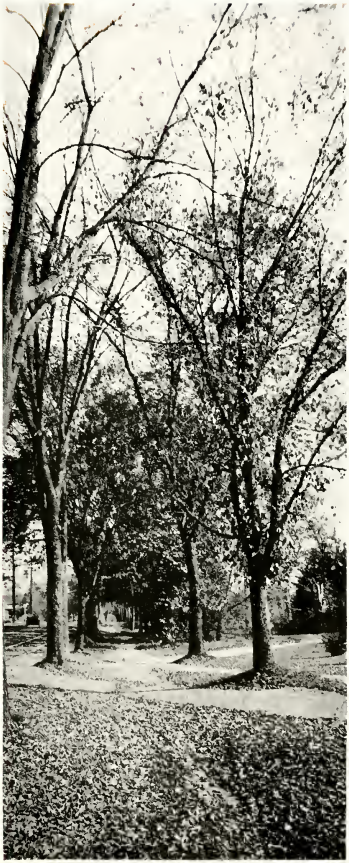
While visited by these exponents of the beautiful, a part of us learn in a crude way to reproduce upon canvas the wonders about us, and all of us are given a new vision and appreciation of beauties we perhaps had not before discovered.

Our paths, though leading ofttimes through the forest of Doubt, are always bright in the distance, and the way is straight though sometimes roughened with Indecision.

And while in college, when setting sail upon the river of Life, the stream is calm and its windings are lighted with Opportunity.

But after M. A. C. days are over, this same river of Life upon which we set sail in college grows swifter and more dangerous in its course—and its windings are dim and foreboding.

And in the path of Life, although the way may appear smooth and bordered with flowery Opportunities, the steps of Difficulty must be surmounted before the goal is reached.

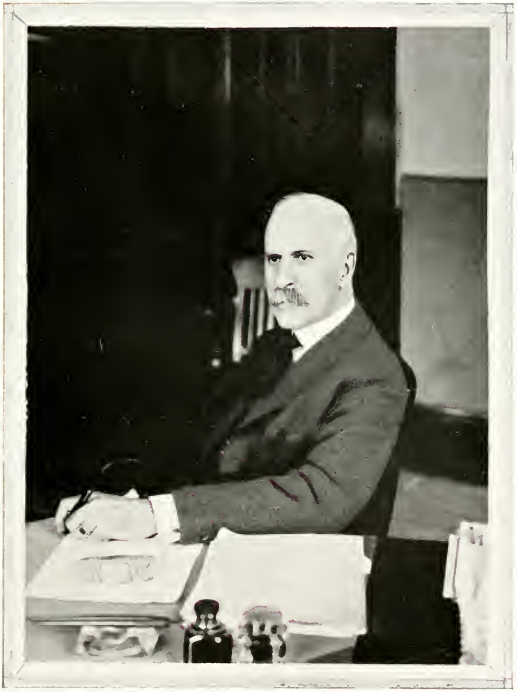


But once the steps of Difficulty are passed, the path of Life again becomes smooth and the trees of Promise again appear green.

And though the way may many times appear dim and the goal be hidden far down a winding turn, the college man or woman is always capable of successfully attaining the goal of Accomplishment.

In the path of Life we as college trained people are being beckoned on by the goddess of Success, who builds her goal not upon a foundation of Iron principles, but upon a foundation of Service—a Service which may be realized at the hand of our loved Alma Mater.

ADMINISTRATION



Bluebirds

I feel sort o' restless on these first warm days in spring,
When Nature's workin' overtime and rushin' everything.
The bluebird ain't pertic'lar if he works ten hours a day
And sets and whistles seven more to pass the time away,
Though his mate keeps him reminded with every straw they bring
That a married man has something else to do but sit and sing.
They have staked their claim out yonder in that scraggley apple bough,
And they're arguin' on the house plans. Just listen to 'em now!
She has changed their minds already sev'ral times on where to build,
And he hasn't framed a motion that the chairman hasn't killed.
There's a certain firm inflection in her voice that seems to say,
"It ain't no use to argue, 'cause it's got to be my way."

And as I sit here a-listenin' to their whistlin' and their chatter,
I get to ponderin' somehow on a somewhat sim'lar matter.
It seems to me most likely, and I reckon you'll agree,
That he is gettin' now exactly what's in store for me.
But the bluebird doesn't mind it much, and neither much do I.
He just accepts her judgment, and it's up to me to try.
The Lord made Woman second, and He'd learned a heap on Man,
And so she's had it over us since first the world began.
And as far as any troubles go that married life may bring,
How gladly would I risk 'em on these first warm days in spring.

R. S. CLARK.

TRADITIONS

TRADITIONS! How fraught with pleasant memories, painful recollections, smiles, tears, and chuckles is this word "traditions" to the college man or woman. No word in the scholastic vocabulary can bring the instant responses upon the part of a group of college folk as can this word of simple phrasing and boundless scope.

Yet how many of us know the origin or history of our most common campus customs? How many of us know what started Barbecue Night or when the J-Hop originated? It is the intent of this book of the 1920 Wolverine to answer these questions and more. It is hoped that a comprehensive resume of our many Michigan Agricultural College traditions may be given by printed word and by picture in a few scant pages.

But by no means all of our M. A. C. traditions will be touched upon. One is not able to write about or picture the tradition of this college that no Aggie athletic team is ever licked—we may be beaten, but we are never licked. One can not picture a team that fights on its own one-yard line with more punch than when putting over a touchdown on its opponents. One is not able to express the tradition in printed word that enforces a No Smoking On the Campus rule, or the unwritten law that M. A. C. men and women live clean, study clean and play the game of life clean.

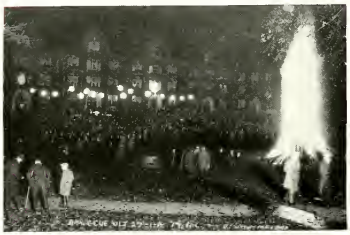
The origin of class rushes in the archives of this institution is one of doubt. From the time of the first class to enter this institution class rivalry has and does play an active part in campus life.

However, the organized Freshman-Sophomore class rush of the present is the product of but a few years evolution. Today Rush Day is but a series of organized games well controlled and held under conditions well to the liking of college men.

The football rush is one of the spectacular events of the day, and no true Aggie alumnus ever forgets the thrill experienced at the start of the fray. But of even greater importance is the flag rush with its ten minutes of ceaseless action and uncertainty.

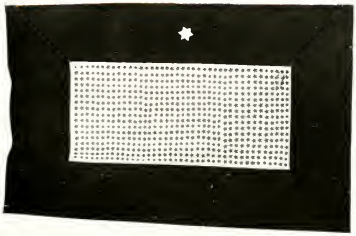
Alumni Homecoming day was originated in 1915 and the football team of the Oregon Agricultural College were our opponents on the birth of a custom that has now become a well established tradition at M. A. C.

Since the days of the installation of the first street cars in Lansing the tradition of at least once a year obtaining a free ride has been well adhered to. Usually the event of a football victory serves as an ample excuse for the free trip down town.



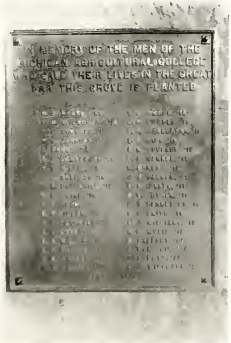
The first barbecue was held October 30, 1908, under the direction of the class of 1911. Coach C. L. Brewer was one of the originators of the event. At this time the carving knife was first handed from a Sophomore to a Freshman class. The purpose of the barbecue then as now was to mark the end of hostilities between the two lower classes. The event is always featured by roast beef sandwiches and cider. And lucky is the Fresh who at some time during the day is not drafted for manual labor.

Split Rock is well remembered by even the oldest alumnus of this institution. Before the days of rapid transportation it marked the half way point of the walk from Lansing to the college. Dr. Chas. E. Bessey wrote in June, 1866. "On my walk to the college I saw a huge boulder to which my attention was attracted by the fact that a little tree a foot or two high and about a third of an inch in diameter of stem was growing from a crack in the top of this rock. The crack was not more than an inch wide and did not extend through the rock."



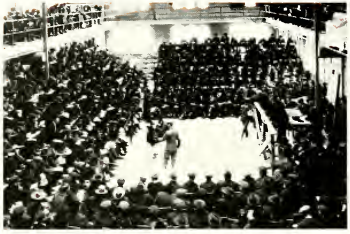
How fitting that a Service Flag should appear in the Tradition Book of the annual of a college whose first graduating class enlisted to a man in the Civil War. By the stars shown here one knows that the tradition established by our first alumni has been well adhered to.

The memorial rock here shown with the accompanying tablet bearing the names of those M. A. C. men who paid with their lives the cost of keeping up a college tradition and a country's demand instil far better than idle words can into the minds of coming alumni just what their Alma Mater expects of them in maintaining her traditions.



Traditions. And with this word the alumni of this institution immediately associate the names College Hall and Williams Hall. Many of the customs of this college were so closely connected with these two buildings that when the structures became a memory the traditions also passed into unknown. College Hall famed as the first structure in this country to be used for Agricultural education collapsed while undergoing repairs in the summer of 1918. Williams Hall—far better known as Bills—was completely gutted by fire on New Year's Day, 1919. But as the college moves on it is expected that newer and finer buildings will replace those of other days. But to the present alumni and even to the members of the class issuing this Wolverine the college will never seem the same without these two structures.

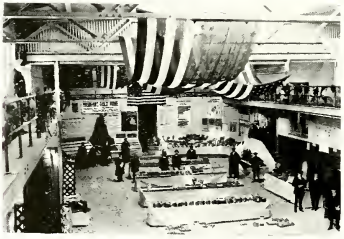
The first Horticultural Show was held in the laboratory of the Horticultural Building in 1908. The exhibit very soon outgrew these quarters and for a number of years was held in the Stock Pavilion of the Agricultural Building and this past year was held in the Armory. The show is put on by the Hort Club. Although fruit exhibitions take first interest in the exhibit, a great deal of enthusiasm is aroused over the auction of the prize apple pies baked by domestic science classes. The first prize pie has been known to bring as high as $15 in these spirited sales.



Farmers Week at M. A. C.—or as it was called in days of old Round-Up Week—is nearly as traditional to this college as the wearing of peanut scoops by the masculine members of the Freshman class. During recent years a grain show has proved one of the attractions to the visitors of the week as well as to the student body.

No Farmers Week would be complete without a live stock auction. This feature is not only of economic interest to the farmers present but is of great interest and educational value to the students of the institution. Even the co-ed members of the school take an interest in the proceedings.

Farmers Week serves as a tie between the theoretical work of this institution and the practical work of the farmers of the state.



Farmers Week is also featured by exhibits prepared by the various departments of this institution together with extension workers and boys' and girls' clubs. After the demobilization of the M. A. C. unit of the S. A. T. C. and Motor Training Corps the barracks served as a first-class exhibit hall.

Since the introduction of the tractor into farming operations no Farmers Week would be complete without a demonstration of this twentieth century century horse. As an outgrowth of these demonstrations short tractor courses of several weeks duration have been offered by this college immediately following Farmers Week. Although not an undergraduate tradition, much interest is shown by the student body in these tractor courses.

The first Co-ed Prom was staged during the present college year, and is to become one of the traditional events of this institution. The affair is described by the girls as being the best time that they ever enjoyed during their college days. However, this statement is skeptically received by the men.

The Co-ed Prom was an all-girls' dance in which not even men onlookers were allowed. All the "couples" were required to attend in costume. The idea was fostered and carried out by the girls' student council and Dean Edmonds with the help and co-operation of the entire co-ed faculty and student body.

A feature of the Co-ed Prom was the awarding of prizes to the most cleverly dressed "couples" and also to the most prettily costumed "man" and woman. Directly above are pictured two persons on the Co-ed faculty as they appeared for the occasion. That even the Dean of Women of this institution enjoyed this "best ever" event, as the girls style it, needs no better proof.

The other illustrations show the Gold Dust Twins proclaimed the most clever couple present while George and Martha Washington carried off the honors for the most prettily costumed "man" and woman.

The parties given by the various literary societies are a popular part of the Tradition Life of the campus. No group of events during one's college days can provide more pleasant memories than those surrounding the parties that one attends.

The origin and history of these events is unchronicled and is perhaps as old as the college itself. But formal or informal, closed or open, the traditional hour for the orchestra to waft into the strains of Home, Sweet Home is always eleven o'clock.

Formal dinner parties given by the various varsity teams at the completion of the season is fast becoming an established tradition.

The memorial Washington Birthday Banquet is not yet an established tradition at M. A. C. It is hoped by the Union Board that this may be made an annual event. The first banquet was held February 22, 1919, in the then uncompleted gymnasium. The event was at that time dedicated to M. A. C.'s part in the World War and her men that gave their lives in the fight for democracy.

Since 1902 the Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, has been holding initiations with the traditional public parade. Three times per year this organization appears on the campus with sash and monogram announcing the honored students.

The Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, is older than its sister agricultural, its installation at M. A. C. taking place in 1892. Part of its initiation is also public with a traditional parade of initiates decorated with sash and bent.

The first J-Hop was given by the class of 1892 in the year 1891. Since this date the traditon has been maintained even during war times when a Hooverized hop was held. This event is the biggest social event of the college year and is a very elaborate and beautiful affair.

However, J-Hops are greatly changed, and changed for the better in the past several years. Alumni have never ceased talking about the time that class rivalty was so heated between the Juniors and Seniors that a fire hose was turned into the armory on the entire group of merrymakers. And at another date in the dead of winter the heating apparatus of the building was tampered with and the greater part of the evening became an Overcoat Hop.

Today, this event is enjoyed by the entire student body in an entirely peaceable manner. The Hop staged by the class of 1921 is the first since the war to assume the former glory and splendor of pre-war proms.

A feature of every J-Hop is the reception and banquet held in the Woman's Building. The banquet is prepared and served by college students and helpers. At the banquet for the first time the Hop favors are disclosed. Following the banquet a series of toasts is given previous to the adjournment to the gymnasium where the grand march opens the dancing, which continues to the wee small hours of the following morning.

The Senior Swing Out marks the first time that each year's graduating class appears in the stately academic cap and gown. This tradition was first originated by the class of 1911. However, the class of 1910 was the first to wear the cap and gown but did not have a formal Swing Out.

Preceded by the band the long black and white line slowly wends its way from the Senior house past faculty row to the Coop, past the library, around the ruins of old College Hall and into Sleepy Hollow, where the class numerals are formed. In 1918 the procession was marked by the presence of the olive drab of the army uniform.

The first carnival was staged in 1905 under the direction of the athletic department. At this time it was called the None-Such Brothers Circus. Since his date the name has been changed to the Athletic Circus due to its being held under the direction of this department.

As the name implies, it is a true circus midway with the various shows put on by the literary societies of the campus. A nominal admission fee is charged and even the worst sell on the lot seems worth the price. Barkers are everywhere and everything from peanuts to Red Dog cider may be purchased. The side shows include everything from slides to Oriental dancers and snake charmers.

Each spring term the Senior class stages a series of stunt days. Appropriate costumes are worn and many kinds of merry-making are indulged in by the soon-to-be alumni. Dances, picnics, mock track meets, weenie roasts, and many other forms of amusement all help to make these Senior stunt days memorable ones to each year's graduating class.

Military Field Days as an established tradition did not take place until May 31, 1915. Previous to this date they had been held at different times but not as an established custom. These days are now entirely separate from the annual government inspection held each spring. In the illustrations on this page a view of the inspecting major is shown together with some of the maneuvers of the day.

Traditional to the minds of the Freshmen and Sophomores are the events surrounding either a military field day or a government inspection. Never will the embryo officer forget his peppy bayonet drill with its quick motions and many blood curdling grunts. Combat bayonet drill also furnishes more than a traditional thrill to the participant.

But all these events are of minor importance when compared to the sham battle between the Freshmen and Sophomores. Here is found action well to the liking of enthusiastic college students. And though the shells are but blanks and the maneuvers but imitations of the real thing, sham battles are classed by M. A. C. students among the memorable traditions of one's college days.

The Festival of the Maytime, given at the 1919 commencement, was the first pageant given at M. A. C. The event started due to the efforts of the girls of the class of 1919 and a number of co-operating faculty women. It was so successful and so enthusiastically received that it has been decided to adopt the pageant as a yearly tradition.

The story of the pageant is divided into three parts. The pageant is opened by a part dealing with the Ancient Nations Worship. A procession of Trumpeters and Garland Bearers precede the dance of the Grecian Maidens in honor of Persephone brought back by Spring to Ceres, the Earth Goddess. Following this was the Dance of the Roman Girls at the Floralia, the festival worship of the Goddess of Flowers.

Part two of the pageant introduced Modern Nations Play with the Old World introducing the part. The "Merrie, Merrie Milkmaid" country dance of Foresters and Shepherdesses on the English Village Green preceded the winding of the May Pole. The Alsatian girls presented their folk dance, the Tourdian, followed by the Belgium girls and "boys" who swung through the changes of the Ostendaise. The jingle of the tambourines to which the Italians danced the Tarentelle vied in interest with the Highland Fling of the Scotch Lassies. Pretty Irish colleens frolicked through the Irish Lilt which furnished a pretty contrast to the Fan Dance of the Japanese girls.

The New World at play was ushered in by the Spirit of Democracy accompanied by the Puritans in stately march. The Minuet of Revolutionary Days gave an inspiring introduction to the Fashionable Promenade of our Grandmother's Summer Days. Pleasures of the Girls of 1919 introduced the Summer Girls, the Sport Girls, and the College Girls. The solo dance of Victory in honor of the modern girl and the Spirit of Democracy closed the part.

The Spirit of Democracy then crowned the American Girl May Queen of the Festival of Community Play and led her to her throne while all nations paid homage to American ideals.

Perhaps the most colorful and showy feature of the pageant was the winding of the May pole. Never were the many colors of the streamers shown off to better advantage than they were against the green background of our campus. One could almost picture that each tint represented one phase of our college life but at the end of the winding journey all were formed into a homogenous shaft of colored talents.

The dance of Miss America was a timely and fitting addition to the spirit of the pageant of 1919 and was portrayed by the sister of the Queen of the May.

Not until the evening of the pageant was it known who had been elected Queen of the May. As the eight Senior girls who had been thought fitted for the office stepped forth before the throne, Miss Democracy, as portrayed by Miss Alice Brunson, paused before Miss Claudice Mary Kober and proclaimed her Queen of the May.

Miss Democracy in her official robes as posed by Miss Marjorie Frances Williams, due to the absence of Miss Brunson.

No M. A. C. custom or tradition is more sad than that of graduation—and yet it is a glad tradition, too. It marks the end of a race successfully run and the beginning of the marathon of Life.

No M. A. C. alumnus will ever forget the traditions surrounding his or her graduation. The Swing Out, the Senior Stunt days, the inconvenience of those last final exams, the band concerts, the pageant, the dramatic club presentation, and finally the parade to the graduation exercises themselves as an undergraduate for the last time.

ATHLETIC BOARD OF CONTROL

The Athletic Department has become, during the last few years, a model of thorough and sound organization in all branches. In February, 1920, the Athletic Board of Control underwent a process of reorganization which makes it a highly efficient governing body. All matters pertaining to the development of athletics are handled by standing committees made up of members of the board. As now constituted the Board of Control is on active duty continuously and bids fair to carry out an aggressive program for the betterment of our sport activities.

The Future of M. A. C. Athletics

M. A. C. is a factory for the building of men and women into future citizens and leaders. A good citizen and leader is a well rounded out individual. The process is one of development, and in this process the athletic life of the institution plays an important part.

Athletics develop loyalty, cooperation, determination, spirit, and the finest of group feeling. An institution enthusiastic for her athletic teams is usually an all around, live institution. Athletics develop and demand the desire and the spark to win. M. A. C. wants winners. She wants winners on the athletic field, in the class room, and in the game of life for which the college is the training ground.

In my mind's eye, I see our girls skating, canoeing, hiking, playing games,—thereby learning and receiving that splendid social training that comes from competition. I see all the men of the institution "in the game", insuring unlimited material and unlimited competition for the Varsity teams. I see many new sports, including the splendid winter recreations, added to our activities. I see a well equiped athletic field with ample and inviting seating accomodations, insuring the presence yearly of the strong Western teams. Finally, I see a clear-eyed, buoyant, determined student body with fighting, winning teams.

C. L. Brewer

On April 1, 1920, Coach G. E. Gauthier, assistant athletic director and former Aggie star athlete, severed his connections with the college to take up the position of supervisor of physical training and recreative work of Bay City.

A few years ago "Gauchie's" performance on the college football field won for him the distinction of being the greatest quarterback M. A. C. ever had. During the first of the two years in which he piloted the team Michigan received her first football defeat from an Aggie team.

Since his graduation Coach Gauthier has been with the college athletic department. His work, especially with the basketball squad, has been a great factor in putting out winning teams. He has coached every basketball team since he took up the athletic work. He has also been active with the track and football teams, serving as assistant coach in each of these branches.

Coach Smith comes to M. A. C. with a good record as track coach in several Eastern colleges. Following the new policy of the athletic department to have independent track and football coaches, Smith is to specialize on the cinder path branch, while the football coach is soon to be chosen.

Coach Smith's successful career as coach of college teams, and his experience as athletic director in the aviation section of the army qualify him to develop winning track teams for this college.

While the career of Lyman L. Frimodig, '17, as coach of the All-Fresh teams dates but from the winter term of '19, it has been sufficient to demonstrate his unusual ability as a producer of winning teams.

The two basketball teams which he has thus far turned out have been a match for many of the stronger college quintets of the state. The football team of last fall lost but one game of its schedule, while the 1919 track squad took third place in the Intercollegiate Meet, losing a dual meet to Albion by a small margin.

"Frim" was an all-around athlete while in college, and has the rather phenomenal record of winning ten monograms during the time that he was eligible for varsity teams—an unparalleled record at M. A. C.

THE SEASON OF 1919

The 1919 football season proved to be one of the most erratic in the history of the institution. The real strength of the Aggie eleven became apparent in the games with DePauw, South Dakota and Notre Dame, which are rated among the strongest teams in the Middle West. Unexplainable slumps, however, characterized the games with Michigan and Purdue, and the season ended ingloriously with a 7 to 7 score against Wabash, a team with a secondary rating at the most.

The opening of the season found a full quota of Monogram men, including five one-time gridiron captains. Piloted by Springer, the team started strong, taking Albion and Alma into camp in the opening week of the season. However, the Western State Normal game ended in an 18 to 21 defeat for the Aggies. The first half closed with the score standing 12 to 0 for M. A. C., but with "Brownie" Springer out of the game in the second half, because of injuries, the Normal team rallied and crossed the goal line for three touchdowns, in a series of clever forward passes.

On October 18 the Aggie team, accompanied by 3,000 students and alumni, journeyed to Ferry Field, at Ann Arbor, for the fourteenth annual contest with the University eleven. Twenty-five thousand spectators witnessed a real football battle. The final score gave Michigan a 26 to 0 victory, but in no way indicated the relative strength of the two teams. The play by play record showed the ground gaining power of M. A. C. to be as great as that of Michigan. Small mistakes at crucial moments, and bad breaks of the game proved the Aggies' undoing.

Hammes

Franson

Springer

The M. A. C. varsity came back strong on the following Saturday and won from DePauw, 27 to 0, only to be defeated, 13 to 0, on November 1, by the Purdue gridders at Lafayette, in a veritable sea of mud.

At the Home Coming game on November 8 hundreds of alumni visitors saw the Big Green defeat South Dakota University, 13 to 0. On the following week-end the Aggies put up their best battle of the season, but they were defeated by the Notre Dame warriors, 13 to 0.

The Aggie football record for 1919 was not one of sweeping victories. Yet few are there who, seeing the Green and White gridders playing havoc with the strongest lines in the West, would not agree that only the jinx of ill luck stood in the way of an unusually successful season.

The personnel of the 1919 football team—described by a coach of an opposing team as the greatest ground gaining machine he had ever met—was composed of men possessing exceptional football calibre.

"Siwash" Franson, the big Aggie tackle, played the same invincible brand of football which won for him the berth of captain of the 1919 team. Powerful, aggressive, every inch a fighter, Captain Franson used his 170 pounds of sinew and bone with telling effect on his opponents. He was the speediest man in the "Big Green" line, and it was due to his irresistible tackles that many a foe play stopped short of the line of scrimmage.

Following the kick-off in the Wabash-M. A. C. game last fall, Walter Eckersall picked the full back for one of his mythical All-Western elevens in the person of "Big" John Hammes, brilliant Aggie backfield man. John played his first game of football at M. A. C., yet at the close of the second season he is rated the most powerful backfield man in the West. He is counted as a big factor toward a winning team for 1920.

"Brownie" Springer, petite Aggie pilot, displayed excellent field generalship throughout the season. Unfortunately, he was out of the game several times with injuries when most needed to direct Aggie offense. He is a shifty, heady player with a world of "pep." He is to captain next year's eleven and will prove a field leader of first rank.

Coryell

Archer

VanDervoort

Coryell, Aggie football captain in '17, finished his third gridiron season for the Green and White, and could be counted upon to get his man in every play. "Cory" was a power on the defense and in carrying the ball. He was acquainted with every trick in the tackle position and played a consistent game throughout the season.

"Larry" Archer, 1918 captain, was one of the most versatile men in the line. He played a steady game at center and dropped back for punting and passing. His defensive work in breaking up forward passes and punts was a feature of the season.

Vandervoort, the "Old War Horse," can easily be rated the most powerful, aggressive and all-around talented guard turned out at the institution. His third season of college football was a repetition of other years in that he outplayed every man who opposed him. He was captain-elect of the 1917 eleven.

Snider

Ramsey

Schwei

"Shorty" Snider was the cleverest man in the backfield at shooting through small openings. He was shifty and fast, which gave him an edge on his heavier but slower moving opponents. His flying tackles in the open field were spectacular. Last year was "Shorty's" third year on the varsity.

"Irish" Ramsay's knowledge of the game and cool, steady playing at end made the left wing of the line a stumbling block for many well planned end runs. When shifted to the back field, "Irish" seldom failed to batter down all opposition and advance the ball well toward the opponents' goal. Ramsay was captain-elect of the 1918 team.

With the debut of Jack Schwei in the backfield, football fans received a welcome surprise. The sight of Schwei with the pigskin under his arm tearing toward the opponents' goal line, more than once brought the stands to their feet. He played a brilliant game until injured. Jack is expected to tear things up next fall.

Miller

Bassett

Noblett

Bassett was a valuable man on the 1919 team. He is a powerful backfield man and hard to tackle. His speed and natural ability made him a man to be respected by all his opponents. He was also a clever end and fine defensive player.

Miller can be termed the "Big Little Man" of the line. He was the lightest lineman in the Middle West, and though he played against men twenty-five to fifty pounds heavier than himself, he was not outplayed in a single game during the season. Bert was the fastest charger in the line.

Natural speed, quickness of wit, and an eye for finding the holes in the enemies' defense are some of the assets of "Sailor" Noblett—versatile end, half or quarter. This youngster looks like a cracking good backfield man for coming seasons.

Shumway

Leffler

Andrews

A trustworthy lineman who could be counted upon to put all he had into the game, was Martin Leffler. When Martin took the guard or tackle position, a fight from that quarter could be expected. Martin played his first game of football as a Sophomore at M. A. C. in 1917.

Shumway always succeeded in making the guard sector a strong point in the Aggie line when called into the game. This big, powerful fellow more than held his own regardless of whom he was stacked up against.

Ward Andrews played a safe, reliable game at end. Ward was on his toes every minute of the game and made his opponents fight for any gains made around his wing of the line. As a defensive player he was hard to excel.

Thompson

Bos

Van Orden

Charlie Thompson is another fast and hard fighting end. Although handicapped by a bad foot, he put up a brilliant game in the few contests which he played. Charlie is one of the men expected to help win football honors for M. A. C. next fall.

John Bos played his first season of college football as a Freshman. Last fall he was shifted from tackle to the end position and was playing the position like a veteran at the end of the season. John is a big, powerful youngster, with lots of natural ability, and will doubtless rank high in football circles before he finishes his gridiron career.

Dick Van Orden is a steady, plugging guard, capable of holding his own against any opponent. Only the fact that more experienced men were available kept Dick from getting into a greater number of games. He should prove a powerful guard in the future.

SEASON OF 1920

The 1920 basketball squad is recognized as the fastest and smoothest working outfit ever seen in Aggie uniforms. Playing the strongest schedule a Green and White quintet ever undertook, and taking on the leading teams in the Middle West, the Aggies marked up a brilliant record. Combining an impenetrable five-man defense with speedy offensive team work, the varsity five defeated several of the strongest Western aggregations.

Coach Gauthier was fortunate in having six monogram men, in addition to several All-Fresh stars, from which to select a winning team.

"Chuck" Higbee, veteran Aggie forward, and "Eddie" Gilkey of the 1919 All-Fresh, who served at forward during a majority of the season's games, proved a matchless scoring combination, totaling 299 points during the season. Garrett and Kurtz at guard put up a stonewall defense, which few opposing forwards were able to break through, while "Jack" Foster at center acted as the keystone of the Aggie offensive. Hammes, another veteran guard, and Heasley, forward from the 1919 All-Fresh quintet, entered the fray in a majority of the contests and showed up well.

Victories secured against such teams as Michigan, Notre Dame, Wabash, Chicago Y. M. C. A. and Creighton University give the Aggies the rating of having one of the strongest teams in the Western basketball circles. We won two out of the three games with Creighton, a team which had not been defeated in three years. Most of the defeats recorded against the varsity were lost by close scores and to the best teams in the Middle West. With a list of twenty-three games on the Aggie schedule, the Green and White quintet won twelve and lost eleven contests.

Games were played with three Western Conference teams. In the first contest of the season the Aggie tossers clashed with the Chicago University quintet, the Conference champions—losing by a small margin, the score going 25 to 32. Two weeks later the University of Indiana, one of the leaders in the Big Ten race, nosed out a one-point victory by a successful basket from mid-floor in the last second of play. In the first game with Michigan, played at Ann Arbor, the Green and White humbled the Michiganders, 23 to 13. Michigan played a return game on the East Lansing court later in the season, with Karpus, phenomenal forward, back in the lineup, and with hopes for revenge. The Wolverines put up a good fight, but were unable to cope with the Aggie whirlwind offense and took a 34 to 27 defeat.

The Notre Dame aggregation lost by a score of 23 to 20 in the first clash of the season, but took the return game, played on the South Bend floor. The closing contest of the season resulted in a decisive victory over the strong Hope College five.

The three veteran guards, Kurtz, Garratt and Hammes, have played their last game of basketball as Aggie athletes, but the scoring power of the team will be in no way weakened by graduation in June. Judging by the wealth of material from which basket guardians may be selected for another year, the team should repeat the success of the 1920 schedule.

Higbie

Foster

Gilkey

Captain Garratt played a splendid defensive game at guard. His steady, aggressive work made the basket extremely hard for the opponent forwards to reach. Though out of the game on account of illness during part of the season, his third cruise as a varsity basketeer was marked by consistent and vigorous action at all times during the game.

When it came to airtight defensive work, "Larry" Kurtz was the man to be counted upon. He is recognized as one of the greatest college guards in the Middle West. His offensive work was a feature of the season and he was easily the fastest floor man on the team. The Kurtz-Garratt guard combination was one of the strongest in the country.

John Hammes added to his honors as an all-around athlete of the highest order by his splendid work at guard. His second year at the varsity sport marked him as a powerful defensive man and an adept at breaking up combinations. John showed surprising speed on the floor notwithstanding his heavy build.

Playing either center or guard "Chuck" Higbee showed up as an aggressive, fighting basket man. "Chuck" is a speedy floor man, with an excellent eye for the basket, and is considered the best foul shooter on the varsity quintet. He was captain-elect in '19.

Robinson

Heasley

Palm

By his heady, consistent fighting, "Jack Foster made himself a valuable man on the Big Green team. He has consistently out-jumped Mid-Western centers for two years; is an excellent shot, fast floor man and was the keystone to the Aggie offense. "Jack" has been elected captain for the 1921 season.

"Eddie" Gilkey's phenomenal speed, aggressiveness and excellent eye for the basket earned him a place as forward on the Aggie quintet in spite of his light weight—a scant 125 pounds. He is a most energetic player, and has yet to meet an opponent who can outplay him. He led the team in field goals for the season.

Robinson is a reliable, fighting guard and is counted upon to fill Kurtz's place on the varsity next year. He will be the only monogram winner out for the guard position. "Robby" has one more year on the varsity.

"Doc" Heasley played his first year on this season's team. He exhibited a wealth of natural ability in basketball, and at times was the most brilliant shot on the squad. He was a member of the All-Fresh in 1919. Expectations are that "Doc" will make a name for himself in basketball next year.

Wayne Palm was easily the best long shot on the team. He dropped them through the basket from any angle and distance. His style of play always had a demoralizing effect on the opponents' defense. This is Wayne's second season on the varsity.

THE 1919 BASEBALL SEASON

The 1919 schedule was far from the easiest tackled by an Aggie team. Indiana, Notre Dame and Michigan, ranking among the strongest teams of the West, were each met in two games.. With Michigan, who won the Conference championship, exceedingly close scores resulted. One game was won and one lost to the strong Notre Dame aggregation. The team finished the season with a 17-point lead over the combined opponents' score—not a sweepstakes record, but nevertheless a sufficient lead to put the M. A. C. nine in the winning class of intercollegiate sport.

A tour into Hoosier territory early in the season easily marks the high spot of interest in the season's schedule. On April 30 the squad met Notre Dame on their home diamond in the hardest fought contest of the season. At the end of the third inning the score stood 2 to 1 for the Green and White and then scoring ceased. A pitcher's duel and faultless backing characterized the rest of the game.

On the following day the team appeared against Indiana University, at Bloomington. Admirable teamwork was exhibited by both nines at every stage of the game. The ninth inning brought a 1 to 0 victory for the Hoosiers.

Johnston

Hammes

Donnelly

Though bested by Kalamazoo College in the first game of the season, M. A. C. later won two games from Western State Normal and beat Alma, 11 to 3. The season closed with a double victory over Wabash College during commencement week, the score of the final game being 20 to 4.

An unusual array of heavy hitters showed in the line-up. Four men finished the season with a batting average above .325. "Lefty" Donnelly, moundsman, proved the ace at stick work. He finished the season with the batting average of .363, a rather phenomenal record for a hurler. Snider, Hammes and Johnston each hit .327. Bert Schneider, left fielder, did excellent work at the plate until near the close of the season, when an unlucky slump brought his average below the .300 mark.

Captain Hammes moved in from the outfield for the '19 season, covering the initial sack with the ease of a veteran infielder. His ability to pull down the high ones saved his teammates many an error. John's trips to the plate frequently resulted in a hit for extra bases. He finished his third season on the varsity in the .300 class.

Stanley Johnston proved one of the hardest working, steadiest catchers in Western college circles during the past season. Besides holding down the receiving end of the game in grand style, Johnston proved to be a fine hitter and base runner. He will captain the 1920 varsity nine.

Snider

Carr

W. Andrews

"Lefty" Donnelly, the brilliant Aggie southpaw, did consistent mound work. He possessed an excellent stock of baffling ones which seldom failed to carry him safely through a pinch. He finished the season at the top of the sluggers' column with an average of .363. Donnelly has another year on the varsity.

"Shorty" Snider was shifted from the outfield to the pivot position at second, where he covered a tremendous amount of ground. He is a clever base runner, and as lead-off man in the batting order was one of the best run-getters on the team. "Shorty" has another year at the varsity game.

More than once during the season the stick work of "Nels" Carr, dependable Aggie shortstop, got the team out of an exceedingly tight pinch. Nelson has an excellent knowledge of the game and his infield work was of the steady, reliable sort, letting few by that came his way.

Ward Andrews' quickness of decision in making close plays made him a valuable man on the team He played a good game at third and his peg to first was sure and accurate. As a base runner Ward was hard to excel. He should prove a valuable man on next year's squad.

Doscher

H. Andrews

Schneider

"Lefty" Doscher spoiled many a run for the opponents when he pulled down their long drives to center. His ability as a ground coverer was equal to any and his peg was sure and accurate. "Dosch" will be back to hold down a garden position next season.

When called upon to do his bit, Herb Andrews could be relied upon to fill the bill in either an outfield or infield position. He is a safe, reliable player and proved a valuable utility man.

Playing his first year on the varsity, Bert Schneider was easily the premier base runner on the team. He finished the season with a total of 13 stolen bases to his credit. He was a fast outfielder and did good work at the plate.

Millard

Hartwig

Franson

Millard was a catcher with considerable baseball experience and played a steady, safe, reliable game behind the bat. The 1919 season was his last year on the varsity.

Hartwig won recognition as a first rank varsity hurler on the Indiana trip—defeating Notre Dame 2-1 and holding Indiana to 1 run. By sheer practice and hard work he proved himself a comer at the game. Hartwig will be a powerful athlete in the future.

"Siwash" Franson took honors as pinch hitter of the team. He usually succeeded in driving the ball far in the outfield at the time when runs were most needed.

While the past season does not present an unbroken record of track victories for the Michigan Aggies, it stands out as an epoch in the development of track activities at M. A. C. During the past winter over a hundred men have engaged in indoor track work—a number unparalleled in the history of this branch of athletics at this institution.

The first indoor track team to be organized at M. A. C. made its appearance during the winter season of '19-'20. In its initial contests, this team met several strong college aggregations with considerable success in points won.

The cross-country team repeated its victory of '17, when it again took first place in the annual fall inter-collegiate run. M. A. C. distance men took second, third and fifth places, beating Michigan by five points. A victory for the Green and White at the coming fall contest will give the Aggies permanent possession of the Cross Country Loving Cup.

Prospects for a bright future in track athletics are greatly stengthened by the addition of "Art" Smith, successful Eastern college track coach, to the athletic staff. Smith takes up his work at the beginning of the spring term of 1920.

1919 TENNIS SEASON

An interesting feature of the 1919 tennis season was the first annual inter-collegiate tournament held on May 23. On this occasion a large number of racquet stars from the various state colleges appeared on the Aggie courts. Although the varsity team did not win the tourney trophy, it made a very creditable showing.

The varsity tennis players engaged in six dual tournaments—securing three victories and one tie.

CO-ED TENNIS

The 1919 Women's Tennis Team holds the honor of being first to win the varsity monograms awarded to co-ed racquet stars. The members of this season's team, though new to varsity tennis, deserve credit for their performance on the court.

The team lost both matches with the Ypsi Normal players, but triumphed twice over the Olivet co-eds.

Tennis is the only branch of inter-collegiate athletics in which the co-eds take part, consequently their activities are followed with great interest.

ALL-FRESH BASEBALL

Eleven All-Fresh baseball men won their numerals during the 1919 season. Their schedule, though short, included two of the strongest college teams in the state. Early in the season the Fresh defeated the Owosso and Lansing High School teams by close scores.

Later in the season, the yearlings met the Kalamazoo and Albion College nines. The third game of the season, played at Albion, resulted in a 12 to 6 victory for the Methodists. The Kazoo team, which proved too strong for the Varsity nine early in the season, triumphed over the '22 men by a score of 18 to 5.

Although the All-Fresh did not engage in many games, they practiced consistently throughout the season and developed some promising recruits for the coming varsity teams.

While there, took part in Morro Campaigns 20 months. Returned to post in California in 1906. Served at Ft. Sumter, Honolulu, 1907-1909. Promoted to First Lieutenant in 1909 at Honolulu. Returned to Ft. Douglas, 1911. Spent 1913-1916 at University of Wisconsin in charge of Cadet Corps. Promoted to Captain 1916, and transferred to 17th Infantry in Mexico. Had charge of Ft. Oglethorpe Prison Camp for 3 months. Transferred to 1st O. T. C. and retired at M. A. C., October, 1917. Held temporary Majority for period of the war.

V. R. BELL,

Capt. Cavalry, U. S. A.

Entered service at Ft. Clarke, Texas, as 2nd Lieutenant, 1907. Transferred in Fall, 1907, to Philippines, won high honors as pistol shot while there. Stationed at Boise Barracks, 1911-1913. Promoted to 1st Lieutenant, 1913. Detailed on recruiting duty at Salt Lake City, 1914. With 7th Cavalry at El Paso, 1916-1917. Promoted to Captain, 1917. Commanded regiment of Infantry, 1918. Made Inspector of 7th District of R. O. T. C. in 1919. Transferred to M. A. C., September, 1919, in charge of Cavalry Unit of the R. O. T. C. Held a temporary Majority during the war.

J. J. TETER,

Capt. C. A. C., U. S. A.

Graduated from West Point, 1915. Commissioned 2nd Lieutenant, C. A. C. upon graduation. Promoted to 1st Lieutenant, July 1, 1916. Served at Ft. Monroe 4 months; Ft. Wright 2 years; Portland, Me., 2 years, and served in France 11 months. Held a temporary Majority throughout the war. Detailed to M. A. C., October 24, 1919, in charge of Coast Artillery Unit of the R. O. T. C.

Infantry

The R. O. T. C. in 1919 was composed of two companies of Sophomores and three companies of Freshmen. Close and extended order drill, bayonet work, target practice, and methods of signaling, formed the basis of a majority of the work. An attempt was made to carry out a program of competitive drill between the various companies, but inclement weather prevented its successful completion.

The Military Department of the College was inspected by Lt. Col. John H. Hester on May 11 and 12, 1919. As a result of this inspection, M. A. C. was placed in a distinguished class. We now rank among the first eight strictly military academic institutions of the U. S. with respect to our record in military work. Four other institutions of military character hold a similar position. Too much credit cannot be extended to Capt. Wrightson, ably assisted by Sergeant Robinson, for this signal success.

Eleven rifle teams were organized during the present year. Teams representing the Girls, Faculty Men, Faculty Women, All-College, American Legion, Federal Club, Sophomore Cavalry, Sophomore Artillery, Freshman Infantry, Scabbard and Blade, and Officers of the Cadet Corps, were in competition. The Faculty Men and Infantry teams finally battled for highest honors, in which contest the members of the Infantry team were awarded the Silver Medals. A class of 35 girls showed much ability in target firing, thus lending variety to the work of the Military Department.

Pistol firing has been introduced into the Sophomore work. Service ammunition will be furnished after Government Inspection.

The nucleus of a Military Museum has been presented to the Military Department by Mr. H. A. Haigh, '74, to which additions have since been made. An effort is being made by the department to trace through the development of firearms from the match lighted tube to the present-day automatic rifle.

Cavalry

The M. A. C. is one of the 12 colleges of the U. S. which the government has seen fit to honor with a cavalry unit. The course in Cavalry work was installed in the Military Department upon recommendation of Captain Bell while he held the office of District Inspector of R. O. T. C. Upon the installation of the course, Captain Bell was transferred to M. A. C. to assume control of this branch. First Sergeant Foley was detailed here as assistant instructor in the Cavalry work. The nature of the course requires the assistance of seven privates who have been detailed from Regular Army service.

Thirty horses are at present available for class work. Sixty-eight Sophomores and Juniors are enrolled in this branch of the Military Department, and they are divided into Troops A, B, and C. Due to delay in the arrival of the horses, they have been in use only since February. Members of the unit have all learned to ride at a slow trot, and principles of horseshoeing have already been given attention. Mounted drill, extended order, and terrain problems will be taken up when warmer weather prevails.

Capt. Bell is to leave at the end of the present year. Information has recently been received from Washington to the effect that he will be succeeded by Lt. Col. E. G. Elliot of Fort Bliss, Texas. Lt. Col. Elliot will be relieved of the command of the Eighth Cavalry upon his transfer to M. A. C.

This branch of military work has received good support and prospects are bright for even greater activity in the future.

Artillery

The Artillery course is a branch of military work newly established at M. A. C., making its appearance in the Fall term. Like the Cavalry branch, it was installed as a result of the record made in the spring inspection. The course is in charge of Captain Teter, who is assisted by several non-commissioned officers and privates. The men taking the work consist of mainly Sophomore Engineers. There are 60 enrolled in the course.

There is equipment on hand to install a complete fire control system of a Coast Artillery fort. It includes telephones, a radio set, signal panels, generators, and sufficient storage batteries to operate the complete system.

This equipment is being installed and will assimilate, as far as possible, a sea coast battery, and the workings of a fire control station. A 155-mm. gun and an eight-inch howitzer comprise part of the equipment. Much time is spent in the study of their respective mechanisms. Motor equipment is used for maneuvering these pieces of artillery.

The advantages of this phase of military work are numerous. Those who are interested in mechanical maneuvers with motor equipment and heavy material are naturally interested in the artillery work.

Opportunity is likewise afforded to men interested in electrical progress, due to the fact that all types of telephone equipment and radio apparatus are studied.

Two summer camps at Ft. Monroe, Va., must be attended to properly complete the course. These afford the advantages of a summer resort, while at the same time, practical experience in mechanical, electrical and civil engineering is gained.

ALPHA OF MICHIGAN

Founded 1885 Organized 1892

Tau Beta Pi is the national honorary engineering fraternity at M. A. C. The local chapter, Alpha of Michigan, is the second oldest in the country, having been organized twenty eight years ago as the first branch of the parent chapter at Lehigh University. There are now chapters in thirty-two universities and colleges throughout the United States

Like everything else, Tau Beta Pi was severely affected by the war, the active membership being twice reduced to one, but with the return of eight old members and the election of nine new ones during this year, the chapter is again on a normal peacetime basis, and every confidence is entertained as to the continued and increasing prosperity of the Fraternity.

High standing in class work is the first requirement in the selection of members, but not high standing alone. The qualities of character and goodfellowship are also prime requisites. Tau Beta Pi stands for scholarship plus character plus fellowship plus good will, and marks a new level of achievement for those who are invited to its membership

HONORARY VETERINARY FRATERNITY

Iota Chapter Organized 1915

Winter, Bergman, Conrad, George, Erbach, Dwyer.
Dr. Taylor, Dr. Hallman, Redfearn, Dr. Chamberlain, Coonsey.

Iota chapter of the Alpha Psi Fraternity was organized by members of the Classes of 15—16 during the winter of 1915. At that time the desire of an organization that would stimulate interest in Veterinary Subjects, Scholarship and Good-Fellowship was felt. Application for a chapter to be established at M. A. C. was made and acted upon favorably, with the result that to-day we have a fraternity to which Junior and Senior students are eligible for membership.

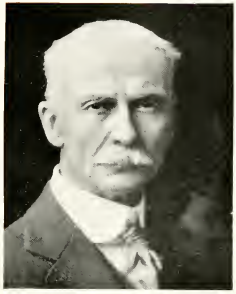
The M. A. C. Association



W. K. PRUDDEN, '78, President

A LOYAL ARMY of M. A. C. graduates and former students in all parts of the world, linked together in a common cause; to keep alive the spirit of loyalty and democracy for which the name of M. A. C. stands, and to further the interests of the college—this is the personnel and purpose of the M. A. C. Association.

Our object is to make our Alma Mater, the Michigan Agricultural College, of the most possible influence in shaping the lives of the young men who seek entrance here, to make her increasingly popular in this state and to maintain her high standard among the educational institutions of the land.

Membership in the Association is open to any student who has completed one term of regular college work. Every student, upon leaving college, should ally himself with his local association, if there is one. If one does not exist, he should start one.

The M. A. C. Record, the official college weekly, is published by the M. A. C. Association. The Record has two distinct aims—to bind former students more closely to the Old School, and to keep them in touch with each other.

The M. A. C. Association originated the idea of a Union Memorial Building, and through its local branches all over the country, is succeeding in bringing to a successful finish, the campaign for the raising of funds for this purpose.

"The highest service of the alumni organization is to bring to the service of the college the very best that the sober judgment of an awakened and enlightened alumni body is capable of producing."

The M. A. C. Union was placed upon its feet financially during the present year when in compliance with a petition of the students, the State Board of Agriculture established an annual Union fee of $1.00 which is paid by all regular students for the support of the Union. This entitles each student to membership in the Union, and provides a much needed working fund with which to carry on Union activities.

The Beekeepers' Seminar

The Beekeepers' Seminar was organized during the Fall term of 1919 by the Senior students of Apiculture. The purpose of this organization is to bring to the students of beekeeping practical discussions along their line. Outside speakers are usually obtained to lead the discussions. Membership is limited to the teachers and students of Apiculture

Chemical Engineering Society

Though this society was just organized at the first of the Winter term, it has already a thriving membership and has very bright prospects for a successful future. Some very interesting and beneficial meetings have been held and it is expected that considerably more interest in the chemical course may be aroused through its efforts.

The M. A. C. Forestry Club, one of the largest and best supported clubs on the campus, holds its bi-monthly meetings in the lecture room of the Forestry building. At these meetings subjects pertinent to Forestry are brought up and discussed. On several occasions during the year men who are experts in their particular line gave interesting lectures, illustrating them by means of moving pictures.

Unusual interest has been shown by members of the Forestry course. Good attendance at meetings of the club being absolute assurance that it is well worth while.

The Forestry Annual, the yearly production of the Forestry Club is being put out as usual. The Annual covers the work done by the members of the club, and also the work of the alumni members in the different parts of the country.

STUDENT BRANCH

This organization is a branch of one of the National Engineering Societies and as such, membership is particularly advantageous to the young engineer because it enables him to come into contact with the leading members of the profession and helps him to keep abreast of the latest developments in engineering. The Society also helps the student upon graduation in locating positions offering opportunity for promotion.

WAYFARING
WHIMSICALISMS

Lip-stick—What do you mean, "she has teeth like the stars?"
Hair-oil—They come out at night.—Sour Owl.

She—This is the first time I've ever been kissed by a man.
He—That's sort of a slam at the rest of 'em, isn't it?—Jack-o-Lantern.

"Claire is a wonderful dancer, isn't she?"
"Right-o! She's the only woman I can shimmie with."
"Sort of sympathetic vibration—what!"

Percy (dismissing a Soph for hazing)—Now, sir, I advise you to keep out of bad company in the future.
Soph (feelingly)—I will, indeed I promise you you won't see me in here again.

IN POULTRY HUB.

Gettel—What's the matter with that hen over there?
Coulter—Shell shock. Ducks came out of the eggs she was setting on.

Frosh—The doctor told me that if I didn't stop smoking I would be half-witted
Soph—Then why didn't you stop?—Tar Baby.

Soul (soulfully)—Our spirits are in harmony. I can sense an aura about you—
He—That isn't an aura, lady. That's hair tonic.—Tiger.

Freshman—Did you give up anything during Lent?
Doc Kruger—Yes, hopes of matrimony.

Chapman—What does A-C-E equal?
Eddy—It depends upon what is trump.

Byronic Sprunger—Prof. Edwards, I am indebted to you for all I know.
Prof. Edwards—Don't mention it; it's a mere trifle.

"My exam marks are turning out like my war record."
"How's that?"
"It seems I'll never get over-c's."—Jester.

She—Do you ever crib in exams?
He—Not so you could notice it.

HAS IT EVER HAPPENED TO YOU?

I rose with great alacrity
To offer her my seat;
'Twas a question whether she or I
Should stand upon my feet.

AMONG THE SENIORS.

Would it be a close shave if Marj. Williams raced with Genevieve Gillette?

HANDS AND WHAT TO DO WITH THEM.

You must take them with you. There are very few effective places to put them. There are countless things that hands must not do. If you put gloves on them, they look 50 per cent bigger and 75 per cent clumsier. In the interest of every-day art, then, what shall be done with them?

AT A DINNER.

A good way to hide the hands between courses is to sit on them and rock back and forth in your chair. This will give you a sort of happy-go-lucky appearance and effectually keep people's eyes from looking at your hands.

WHEN MEETING THE WIFE AT 2:00 A. M.

The left hand should be advanced, palm out, about on a level with your jaw. The right should be held fairly close to the body in the region of the heart Corbett, Willard and many others say there is no guard like this one.

WHEN HAVING YOUR PICTURE TAKEN.

Do the same as at a dinner—sit on 'em. If you leave them out anywhere in the air, the photographer will make them look like hams. If it is a wedding picture and you are having a group of your wife and yourself done to insult the parlor wall in the days to come, don't drape one of your hands on the bride's shoulder. Hide it in the orange blossoms on the top of her head.—The Log, U. S. N. A.

Mary, Mary, quite contrary,
How did your brewing do?
It has the smell, and kicks like hell,
But tastes like rotten glue.

—Labor Review.

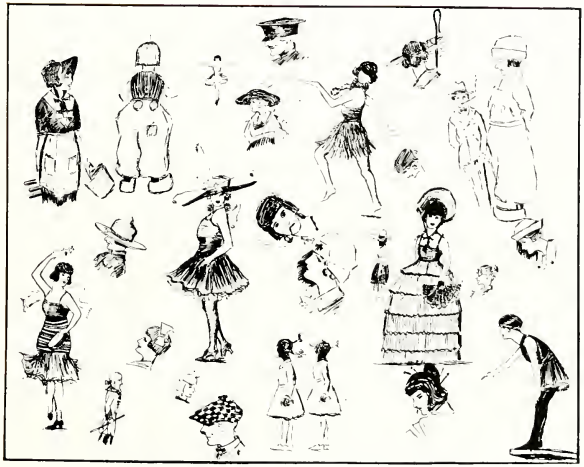
"Hubby, I believe I'll buy a Ouija board."
"Don't do it."
"Why?"
"The Glippings next door will be sure to borrow it and I don't want the darned thing to be telling family secrets."

Chapman (having a hard time with tuning fork)—This fork's no good.
Hap Wilder—Take it back to the farm and get one with a better pitch.



A MAN'S IMPRESSION OF THE CO-ED PROM.

IN AG. MATH.

Prof. Plant—Mr. Pratt, will you elucidate the binomial theorem?
Pratt (William Jennings Bryan)—'Scuse me! Too deep for me, Prof.
Prof. Plant—You seem to be better fed than taught.
Pratt—Yes, sir; you teach me, but I feed myself.

ON THE STREET CAR.

Fresh—Can't you go any faster?
Motorman—Yes, but I have to stay with the car.

AT PINE LAKE.

"Did you see daughter's bathing suit?" asked mother.
"No," answered father. "I scarcely noted the suit. Most of what I saw was daughter."

"EVENTUALLY—WHY NOT NOW?"

A PASSING FANCY.

I passed her on the Campus.
She was a dream.
I sensed a rare perfume as she swept by.
For a nonce our eyes met.
She smiled and glanced down.
And blushed.
My heart knocked in my chest.
Sweet sentiments filled my mind.
When I glanced down also.
I blushed also.
I became aware
That one of my garters was not giving me
The proper support.

A theological professor was delivering a lecture before the class on their moral conduct. He finished up with, "My young men, do you know that the floor of hell is paved with champagne bottles, chorus girls and automobiles?" From the back of the Chapel came a big bass voice: "O death, where is thy sting?"

"Those boys at that house must have awfully good times. Dick was telling me about a new game they play over there."

"What was the game?"

"I don't know exactly. Dick called it 'galloping dominoes.'"—Gargoyle.

IN ENTOMOLOGY

Allen—Where do bugs go in winter?
Jessup (absent-mindedly)—Search me.

"Jones didn't marry that co-ed, did he?"

"No, he bought an auto and found it just as expensive and not so much trouble."—Gargoyle.

She—The very air up here breathes romance.

He—No, dear, that's some of the boys who just got back from Windsor.—Jack-o'-Lantern.

She—A penny for your thoughts.

He—I was wondering how long a moth could live on your bathing suit.—Jester.

FROUX-FROUX

A girl wore a skirt in St. Broux
That the Sun could shine all the way throux.
As I stared at her, she
Said, "Sir, what do you see?"
Said I, "What a beautiful vioux."

—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Just then the wind suddenly bloux.
As it, on occasion, will doux,
And the next thing I knoux
The girl from St. Broux
Broke down and commenced to boux houx

—Public Ledger.

Then I pitied the girl from St. Broux
And said, "Miss, won't you let me help youx?"
But without more adoux
She said, "No! you big troux!"
So I, downcast, in haste floux the floux.

—Punch Bowl.

Yet again came the girl from St. Broux
With the dress that the sun could shine throux.
Says I, "Add a skirt,
For the town's eyes are hurt,
And the face of the sun blushes, toux."

—Aegrean.

Now the winds of the winter bloux throux
The dress of this girl from St. Broux.
We regret to relate
That this very date
The poor thing's in bed with the floux.

—The Log.

CLUCK CLUCK.

Junior—Why do they sprinkle cornmeal on the Gym floor before dance?
Fresh—I'll bite.
Junior—To make the chickens feel at home.

Freshman (to himself, watching engineering student using transit)—Wonder if he wou'd take my picture?

Said an old writer:

"There be three things which make a nation great and prosperous---fertile fields, busy workshops and easy modes of conveyance of men and goods from place to place."

Say we today:

"There be three things which make a commission firm worthy of patronage:

Financial Strength,
Good Salesmanship,
Prompt Accounting."

Upon this trio hang the law and the profits of the market patron.

HIGH STUFF.

A returned warrior was relating his experiences to a number of old friends in the village inn. After exhausting his supply of tales, he was asked:

"Did they use any high explosives over there?"

"Well, I ain't sure about that. But when our battilion was up the line once a shell struck our dugout, lifting everything into the air, and when the sandbags came down they were all covered with snow."

WILD AMERICA.

"My dear, listen to this," exclaimed the elderly English lady to her husband on her first visit to the States. She held the hotel menu almost at arm's length and spoke in a tone of horror:

"Baked Indian pudding! Can it be possible in a civilized country?"

The Right Fertilizer For Your Farm

Your experiment station will tell you that a fertilizer is valuable only for the plant food it contains, and the higher the analysis, the cheaper the plant food per pound.

The ton price of fertilizers means nothing without the analysis.

Our problems are similar—your expense is the same per acre for plowing, seed, cultivation, etc., whether you harvest a big crop or a small crop. Our expense (which is in the price the farmer pays for fertilizer) is the same for labor, repairs, freight, bags, etc., whether the ton contains a large amount or a small amount of plant food.

The larger your yield, the lower your cost of production per pound. The more plant food we put in a ton the lower our cost for each pound. You Get The Advantage of Our Saving.

High analysis fertilizers are always made from high grade plant food materials. Swift's Red Steer Fertilizers, containing 14% or more of plant food, are the most economical for you to buy.

Swift & Company's reputation for making every product the best of its kind is back of every bag on which the Red Steer appears. This reputation is worth much to you, yet it costs you nothing.

Swift & Company

Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

Just what you want

The most productive fertilizer at the lowest cost per pound of plant food.

Ammonia to promote a quick start, produce leaves and stalks and give vigor to the plants.

Phosphoric acid to encourage root growth, give strength to the plants and hasten maturity.

Potash to stiffen straw and stalk and promote cellular growth.

The largest yields per acre and per man.

Greater returns on your investment in land, buildings, and machinery—your investment is the same for a large or a small crop.

Certain delivery. Our many up-to-date plants to draw from offset possible local strikes and car or labor shortages.

The best investment you can make.

You get it in Swift's Red Steer Fertilizers containing 14% or more of plant food

Entering the World Electrical

THE graduate of today enters a world electrical.

Gathered from the distant waterfalls or generated by the steam turbine, electric power is transmitted to the busiest city or the smallest country place.

Through the co-ordination of inventive genius with engineering and manufacturing resources, the General Electric Company has fostered and developed to a high state of perfection these and numerous other applications.

And so electricity, scarcely older than the graduate of today, appears in a practical, well developed service on every hand.

Recognize its power, study its applications to your life's work, and utilize it to the utmost for the benefit of all mankind.

Andy—"What do you know about the language of the flowers, Harris?"

Harris—"Well, I know this much about it—a $10.00 box of roses talks a heap louder to a girl than a $2 bunch of violets."

HE SAID "YES."

The witness for the defense was being cross-examined. In answer to a question put by counsel, instead of speaking, he nodded his head, whereupon the court stenographer who was not looking at the witness, demanded, "Answer that question."

The witness replied, "I did answer it; I nodded my head." "Yes," was the retort, "I heard it rattle, but could not tell whether it was up and down or from side to side."

REO

An Applied Ideal

"Every great enterprise is but the lengthened shadow of a man." ¶ Another way to say the same thing is, "The quality of any product truly reflects the character of the men who make that product." ¶ We accept that axiom on behalf of the Reo product and of the Reo organization. ¶ Reo is one of the largest concerns in the motor car industry. ¶ But Reo has never been ambitious to be the largest. ¶ Reo never will contend for that doubtful distinction. ¶ From the very inception of this concern it has been our ambition, our purpose and our policy to build, not the most—but the best. ¶ It was resolved then that Reo never would build more motor cars than we could build and be sure that every Reo would be as good as the best Reo that ever came from these plants. ¶ To that policy we have always rigidly adhered.

An old Irishman and wife lived in very humble environment, the former making a living with pick and shovel. But Fate tipped the balance his way and he "struck it rich." They at once moved to more pretentious quarters, with furniture suited to their station. Time laid its weight lightly on their shoulders and their social status was greatly improved, but the old lady resented anything that suggested Pat's former occupation.

Suddenly Pat was taken ill and died; very elaborate arrangements were made for the funeral and services being held at the residence, many floral offerings were sent by friends and neighbors. The old lady was escorted down to the parlor where the remains laid in state; as she glanced about the room she commented as follows:

"What a foine bunch of lilies, just loike the white soul of me Pat, and the illigant wreath tellin' how he was always going about doing good;" and so on from one offering to another, until her eyes rested upon a large anchor Then in a scornful voice: "Now who in hell sint the pick?"

We take this opportunity of thanking the student body and faculty of the Michigan Agricultural College for their patronage during the past year. We are glad if we have been able to be of any real service in the past and we hope to be of greater service in the future.

Our work is guaranteed to be of a high grade and our prices are right for it is our firm belief that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement for any business.

Next year we hope to be able to do a much greater range of work than in the past and we hope that you will make this shop your headquarters for printing.

THEIR FIRST MENTION

Bobby, for once, expressed great interest in the sermon. "Fancy flying machines mentioned in the Bible," he said.

"But are they?"

"Why, didn't the vicar say Esau sold his heirship to his brother, Jacob.

The Pater—"I never told lies when I was a boy."

The Kiddie—"When did you begin, Dad?"

Mr.—"I thought you had given up the burnt wood art."

Mrs.—"Oh, how cruel! That's a pie."

Young A.—"Do you mind if I smoke in this room?"

Fair Lady—"Dad might put you out."

Y. A.—"The lamp is smoking."

Real Estate Agent—"But there is no bathroom in this house."

Foreigner—"That makes no difference. I only want it for one year."

Break, break, break,
On thy cold stones, O Sea,
I bet you could break for forty years
And not be as broke as me.

Everett (out joy riding)—"Darn it, this engine is missing."

Judie (anxiously scanning the road behind) "What kind of a looking thing was it?"

A University of Nebraska student, in a contest to perform "the darndest nervy" stunt, stoped a trolley car in order to use the step as a footrest while tying his shoe. Well, the squirrels haven't got all of them yet.

Lawyer—"Do you drink?"

Witness (indignantly)—"That's my business."

Lawyer "Do you have any other business?"

He failed in English, flunked in chem
They softly heard him hiss:
"I'd like to find the man who said,
That ignorance is bliss."

THE JUNIOR HOP.

The Junior Hop is the annual mid-year, cross-country terpsichorean and costuming triumph of the college. We shall not bother with the terpsichorean features—we dare not with the costuming.

Going to the Hop involves several stages of action:

First: Getting a date.

The question—nonchalently put, at least a year before, "Asthma, are you going to be busy February 21, next year?"

The answer—"No, Brigham, why?"

Committing himself—"Will you go to the Hop with me?"

The contract made—"Love to." It depends upon the girl how fast and with how great enthusiasm she says this.

Second: Be sure that you still have the date.

Third: Breaking the news to father and securing the wherewithal.

Fourth: The battle itself.

The Hop is the culmination of a hundred romances—the beginning of a
